PRESIDENT ADDRESSES JOINT SESSION OF HOUSE AND SENATE

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Tonight President Wilson asked Congress to declare that a state of war exists between the United States and Germany.

While the news of the submerging of the Steamer Aztec—the first American armed ship to sail into the war zone—was being told from mouth in the capitol, the President, appearing before a joint session of the House and Senate, asked Congress to recognize and deal with Germany's warfare on attack.

The President said that war with Germany would involve practical co-operation with the governments now at war with Germany, including liberal financial credits. He urged the raising of 500,000 men and universal military service.

The President made it clear that no action was being taken against the Austrian government, and other nations allied with Germany.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—President Wilson in his message said we had "accepted gage battle" thrown down by the Kaiser; that the country must exercise all its power, and "exert all its resources to bring the government of the German empire to terms and end the war."

I am not thinking of property, immense as that is, but only of the wanton wholesale destruction of the lives of non combatants—men, women and children engaged in pursuits which have always, even in the darkest period of modern history, been deemed innocent and legitimate. Property can be paid for, but the lives of peaceful, innocent people cannot be.

The present German submarine warfare against commerce is a warfare against mankind. It is a warfare against all nations. American ships have been sunk and American lives taken in a way which has stirred us. But the ships and people of other neutral and friendly nations have been sunk and overwhelmed in waters in the same way. There has been no discrimination. The challenge is to all mankind. Each nation must declare for itself how it will meet it. The choice we make for ourselves must be made with a moderation, counsel and temperateness of judgement befitting our character as a nation. There is one choice we cannot make—we are incapable of making it: we will not choose the path of submission and suffer the most sacred rights of our nation and our people to be ignored or violated. The wrongs against which we will now array ourselves are no common wrongs. They cut to the very roots of human life.

In closing, the President said: "Neutrality is no longer feasible or desirable where the peace of the world is involved and the freedom of its people. And the menace to that peace and freedom lies on the existence of autocratic governments backed by organized force which is considered wholly by their will, not by the will of the people."

The historian of Fairbanks Igloo No. 4, Order of Alaska Pioneers, is compiling a history of the members of the lodge. Members have been requested to hand to the historian the details of their place of birth, early life, date of departure for the north, experience aboard ship and along the trail, names of people in their party, place of arrival in the north and other experiences.

2 STEAMERS TORPEDOED; 110 PERISH

LONDON.—By a majority of 279 the house of commons approved the proposal for a new franchise law which will include the suffrage for women.

BIRD DAY TO BE CELEBRATED IN WRANGELL

Bird Day will be observed in Wrangell Thursday evening, April 12, under the auspices of the Civic club. There will be an appropriate program and Mr. P. H. Gray will be the speaker of the evening. No admission will be asked and a cordial invitation is extended to the general public and especially to the boys and girls of the community. Mr. Gray will leave a great deal of interesting information to give us concerning our feathered friends. The affair will be held in St. Philip's gymnasium.

A contest that should be of interest to the girls and boys of the community will soon be announced by the Civic Club. Watch the Club Notes!

The following report will show what the ladies of the Wrangell Civic Improvement Club have done since the club was organized nearly four years ago:

In 1913 one entertainment and two social dances netted the club $237.15. During 1914 the women cleared $71.60 from two social affairs and expended from the money on hand more than $150 for a clean-up campaign and for the graveling of the school-yard. It had now become the ambition of the club to add more land to the inadequate school-yard and this idea proved a very popular one. In April, 1915, the school gave an entertainment and Miss Drowatzky, the principal, gave the net proceeds, $77, to the club for the school-land fund. Two years were given this year and they netted the club $22.50. When the ladies of Wrangell gave a leap year dance in March, 1916, they turned the money which was left, $15, over to the club for the school-land fund, and about a month later the Red-men presented the club with $4.25, the proceeds of a basket social, for the same fund. The club gave a program and dance in May, 1916, which added $76.30 to the amount on hand and, later, the 1915 Fourth of July committee presented the ladies with $55.05, or one-half of the money left from the celebration, the other half going to the Athletic Club. These donations were very much appreciated, not only because they added very materially to the fund but because they proved that the work of the club was appealing to the people of Wrangell. In October, 1916, another program and dance was given and the net proceeds were $411.95. This amount is being held at the disposal of the Totem and Curio committee of the Chamber of Commerce. There are $469.30 in the school-land fund at the present time and a small amount in the general fund.

Mrs. Robert Royalty

News of Mrs. Royalty's death was received in Wrangell Saturday by cable and came as a shock to her relatives and many friends.

Death was caused by anemia. During the week previous to her death Mrs. Royalty had planned to come to Wrangell, and from here she expected to go to Seattle in company with Mrs. Fred Leonard.

Relatives who were with Mrs. Royalty at the time of her death were Mrs. N. Reid, mother; Robert Royalty, husband; Galen Royalty, father-in-law; William Royalty, brother-in-law. Annie Reid-Royalty was born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1885, and was married to Robert Royalty in Bellingham, Washington, November 3, 1903. Mr. and Mrs. Royalty came to Wrangell in 1904, and lived here continuously until they left for Craig three months ago.

Besides her husband and mother Mrs. Royalty is survived by a daughter, Theodosia, aged 6, and a sister, Mrs. Dolly Walton of Sumas, Washington, who formerly resided in Wrangell.

Mrs. Royalty was a woman much beloved, and her loss is mourned by a large circle of friends.

The vacancy on the school board was filled by the election of Mrs. M. O. Johnson who will serve three years. It is likely that she will be made the clerk of the board.

Three of the councilmen elected will serve one year and three will serve two years. The councilmen who are to serve two years will be determined by lottery.

PHILANTHROPIST VISITS WRANGELL

H. S. Wellcome, head of one of the largest wholesale drug concerns in England and the United Kingdom, accompanied by his valet, was in Wrangell from Monday morning till Wednesday afternoon, when he sailed for Seattle on the Spokane. He stopped off in Wrangell for the purpose of adding to his collection of photographic views of the Northland.

Mr. Wellcome is one of the men who originally backed Father Duncan in his effort to civilize the natives of Old Metlakahla when the tribe moved to the American side and settled at their present town of Metlakahla. For the past three months Mr. Wellcome has been at Metlakahla as a guest of Father Duncan. Last week he went to Juneau to confer with Governor Strong and other officials in an effort to see what steps can be taken for the relief of the present situation in the Native village.

Cheapening of Gold and Food Scarcity Causes of High Living Cost

By BENJAMIN IDE WHEELER,
President University of California

A STEADY enhancement of prices has been going on for nearly twenty years. It is apparent that the man living on a salary is standing in quicksand and that the value of his salary is continually oozing away from under his feet. The cost of living increased 50 per cent in the ten years from 1896 to 1906 and another 50 per cent between 1906 and 1916 and in 1916 shot up faster than ever, so that by December, 1916, the cost of living was 80 per cent higher than in 1906.

BENJAMIN IDE WHEELER.

THE GENERAL TREND IN THE RISE OF THE COST OF LIVING IS NOT LIKELY TO RELENT EVEN IN PEACE, BEING DUE TO UNIVERSAL CAUSES INVOLVING PRESUMABLY THE CHEAPENING OF GOLD AND THE GROWING SCARCITY OF FOOD.

Moderation and fairness would, it seems to me, suggest the raising of salaries in the university by ten to twelve and a half per cent, which is less than the general trend increase of the last five years. It is particularly assistant professors and other faculty men on very small salaries whose situation has grown increasingly difficult financially as money has shrunk in value.

Faithful Discharge of Their Duties Best Answer Courts Can Make to Criticism

By CHARLES E. HUGHES, Statesman and Lawyer

JUDGES should not pay too much attention to popular criticism, but go on doing their work honestly. I dislike the idea of the opposition of the people to their judges. The judges are the people's judges, maintaining for them an institution without which the continuance of democratic government would be an impossibility.

C. E. HUGHES.

I do not care much for a general popular discussion of judges and of lawyers. The best answer the courts can make to the people is a faithful discharge of the duties laid upon them. They should be prompted by an ability to apply legal principles to new situations so that there is a harmonious development of the law without THE INTRUSION UPON THE COURTS OF OFFICIOUS INTERMEDDLING, IN ORDER TO AVOID RESTRICTIONS BINDING UPON THE JUDICIAL OFFICES AND THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

Who Can Tell of the Morrow? Don't Delay. Go to Church Next Sunday.

SOME of the young people of today when asked why they do not GO TO CHURCH say that they are too busy having a good time; that they will GO TO CHURCH when they grow old. They'll vehemently declare their belief in God and admit that the church is all right. But they repeat that they will have plenty of time to repent and GO TO CHURCH in their declining years.

How many of these young people are sure that they will live to be old? How many of them can positively say that they will LIVE TO SEE ANOTHER DAY? Procrastination is the thief of time. Don't put off until tomorrow what you can do today. If you are having a good time now and neglecting church, GOD MAY NEGLECT YOU when you need him most.

AFTER ALL, THE SO CALLED GOOD TIMES ARE MORE OR LESS EMPTY. YOU'LL HAVE A REAL GOOD TIME IN CHURCH. IT'S THE MAN WITH THE EASY CONSCIENCE WHO HAS THE REAL GOOD TIME IN THIS WORLD. TROUBLED CONSCIENCES RESULT FROM MANY OF THE SO CALLED GOOD TIMES OF TODAY. ISN'T THIS TRUE? THINK IT OVER. GOD WANTS THE YOUNG PEOPLE. THE CHURCH WANTS THE YOUNG PEOPLE. PREACHERS WANT THE YOUNG PEOPLE IN CHURCH. THE LESSONS THAT ARE TAUGHT THERE FIT A MAN OR WOMAN FOR THE BATTLE OF LIFE.

It seems that in every line of endeavor but the church YOUTH IS ENTHUSIASTIC. Why not become enthusiastic over church? Isn't the goal worth while? Every young man and young woman in this community should make it a point to GO TO CHURCH next Sunday. When you were a child you went to church. Why forget the church in the days of early manhood or womanhood? If there ever is a time when you NEED THE CHURCH MOST it is then. It is the MOST CRITICAL PERIOD of your life.

The church is the BULWARK OF THE NATION. You will have to admit that, young people. Then why not help along this grand GO TO CHURCH movement and attend divine service next Sunday?

SKATING ON ICE.

It is Possible Only Because of the Melting Under Pressure.

Ask the average man or boy, "Why is such glorious freedom of movement possible on ice and on nothing else?" and the chances are ten to one that you will get the answer, "Because the ice is so smooth."

But is that the reason? Dr. Joly in a lecture before the Royal Dublin society pointed out that polished glass is much smoother than roughened ice, yet we can skate on the ice, whereas on the glass it would be impossible. He proved by interesting experiments that we must seek further for an explanation. His solution, arrived at only after the most careful investigation, is that we owe the ability to skate to the fact that ice melts under pressure.

The part of the skate that bears on the ice presents a very narrow surface, and on this surface comes the whole weight of the body. That pressure causes the ice to melt instantaneously, and the thin film of water between the blade of the skate and the ice serves the same purpose as the film of oil that we run between the working parts of machinery—it greatly reduces the friction. Immediately after the skate passes on the water film solidifies again into ice, ready for the next skater who comes along; hence Dr. Joly concludes that we really skate not on ice, but on water.

Nature gives us in this way a lubrication far and away ahead of anything man has been able to make.

Have you ever noticed that the colder it is the harder it is to skate? That is because the ice melts less readily under pressure. Dr. Joly apparently did not know that skating rinks are now in existence where ice is not used. Instead we have a surface composed largely of salt. If you know anything of the nature of salt, however, you will find that his theory holds good in that case as it does in the case of ice, and in neither case is skating made possible by the smoothness of the surface.—Youth's Companion.

A Heat Phenomenon.

A workman in the observatory at Toulouse invited attention to a singular phenomenon. A bar of iron is taken by one end and the other end is plunged into a fire, heating it highly, but not so much that the hand cannot retain its hold. The heated end is then plunged into a pail of cold water. Immediately the other end becomes so hot that it is impossible to hold it. This phenomenon, familiar to workmen, is ascribed by them to some repellent action they suppose the sudden cold exerts upon the heat contained in the iron, which is thus driven to the opposite extremity.

Learning His Lesson.

The man whose house was next door was scraping an acquaintance with the man who had just moved in.

"I see you have an automobile," he said. "I suppose you will use the barn as a garage?"

"Yes; I expect to use it as a garage," responded the new neighbor.

This held him for a minute or two, and then he made another overture.

"The man that lived here last year," he said, "used his back yard as a cabbagh patch."—Pittsburgh Times.

Our Oldest Bit of Literature.

The book of Job, as it is incorporated in the Bible, is believed to be the most ancient literary work in existence. It is known to have been written prior to the Pentateuch and prior to the promulgation of the law. In profane literature the poems of Homer are the most ancient that have come down to our day, though the names of others still older are in existence. The Pentateuch was written about the year 1490 B. C. and the Homeric poems about 640 years later.

Heard in the Smoker.

Four men were playing whist. One man was constantly criticizing his partner; finding fault with his play. Presently, after the victim had thrown away a diamond on a spade lead, the irascible one blurted out, "Dash it, man, haven't you got a black suit?"

"Yes," said his partner quietly, "and I'll soon be wearing it at your funeral if you don't shut up."—Boston Transcript.

Both Alike.

"Please, sir," said Mr. Hinks timidly, "can I have a raise in my salary?"

"On what grounds?" asked his wealthy employer gruffly.

"I need more money to support my family."

"So do I," said his employer, shaking his head sadly.—New York World.

The Telephone's "Trouble Man."

Every telephone company has a "trouble department," where all complaints of bad service and defective equipment go. The men who make the repairs and adjustments are known as "trouble men," and they have to be not only expert workmen, but chaps of intelligence and common sense, for they meet many problems that are not set down in the books. Thoughtless people can do many things to put a telephone out of commission, and some of them are simple—wet umbrellas leaned up against the wiring in such a way that it grounds the current and, of course, makes the phone useless. In this particular case the umbrella remained where it ought not to have been while the owner of the phone fretted and fumed because he could not get central and then went to a neighbor's and called up the telephone company. When the "trouble man" arrived he saw at once what the matter was and picked up the umbrella. "Now call central," he suggested, and the irate patron got an immediate response.—Leslie's.

Picturesque Cretan Garb.

An interesting description of the Cretan's picturesque dress is given by a writer in Blackwood's:

"The Cretan's national dress merits a word of description. He wears on his head either a twisted kerchief or a sort of pirate's cap, with a tassel hanging over one ear. His upper limbs are clad in a loose black shirt and his lower in a pair of black cotton breeches of a bagginess which is well liked to be conceivably even to one who is used to the shalwar of the Levant. These breeches finish tight immediately below the knee and leave an inch or more of sunburnt leg showing above the top of a high yellow boot of untanned leather. The men stride along with the highlander's easy gait, and as they go the slack of their posterosus breeches swings out behind them with all the jaunty air of a skirt."

A Venetian Fashion.

Fashions were no less eccentric four centuries ago than they are today. "Before the streets of Venice were paved in the thirteenth century," says Mr. William Boukling in "Women in Italy," "ladies went through the mud and filth on pattens. The custom was retained, and in spite of sumptuary laws the patten became heightened until women of rank stood on false feet half a yard high in the sixteenth century. They were unable to walk without the support of one or two gentlemen or servants."

A curiosity in banquets is mentioned by the same writer. It was a wedding feast at Milan and consisted of fifteen courses, "each being introduced by living specimens of the animals that composed it."

Start of the Omnibus.

The invention of omnibuses is due to the philosopher Pascal, who, in February, 1667, obtained a "privilege" or a patent for public carriages to travel through certain streets of Paris. They held eight passengers, who paid six sous each, and were very successful, although an act of parliament of Paris forbade them being used by lackeys, soldiers and other humble folk. Pascal died in 1667, and his useful invention did not long survive him. The omnibus reappeared in London about the beginning of the last century and was adopted in several French provincial towns before Paris accepted it again.

Painter For the Preacher.

Among the stories related by the late Rev. Dr. A. F. Pierson was one of a marble cutter, with chisel and hammer, working a block of stone into a statue. A preacher who was looking on said, "I wish I could, on hearts of stone, deal such transforming blows!"

"Perhaps you might," was the workman's quiet answer, "if, like me, you worked on your knees."—Philadelphia Record.

Speedy Giraffes.

The kangaroo, supposedly a fleet beast, covers but ten to fourteen feet a second, while the giraffe dashes along over fifty feet in the same time, and an ox attached to a wagon goes two feet a second. Some species of hare run sixty feet a second, others not more than half so fast.

Definitions of Man.

Man has been defined by Aristotle as "a reasoning animal," by Plato as "a political animal," by Dante as "a ridiculous animal," by Varchi and by John Fiske as "an improvable animal." Boerhaave calls men "mud worked up by the hand of God."

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

When Baby Begins Walking.

Do not make the mistake of trying to force your little baby to walk. If a baby is well it usually makes an attempt to stand on its feet at nine or ten months of age, and at eleven or twelve months it usually stands with slight assistance.

The first attempts at walking are commonly seen in the twelfth or thirteenth month. The average age, as a rule, at which children walk is the fourteenth or fifteenth month. If the baby passes that age without trying to walk then consult a physician.

However, a very marked difference is seen in different families with respect to the time of walking. General malnutrition, a late or protracted teething may postpone walking for several months.

Few realize how RUST threatened the extinction of "Steel Ranges." Sheet metal, steel or iron is the ideal material for range bodies and ovens. But RUST would destroy it! Rust that worked from the inside not outside.

So there the MONARCH built its defence—of VITREOUS ENAMEL, a material you know from every day household experience is not effected by Rust. Every inch of the MONARCH'S flues is covered with this non-rusting protection.

You can enjoy the satisfaction of cooking on a MONARCH Range year in and year out. No danger of rusting out, just continued satisfactory service. We don't know for how long! But from the looks of this splendid Range we'd guess a life time.

U. S. GEODETIC SURVEY PEOPLE COMING BACK

WASHINGTON—Orders for next season's coast and geodetic survey work in the North Pacific have been issued by Dr. E. Lester Jones, chief of the survey. They contemplate a continuation of wire drag work in Alaskan waters.

The sundry civil appropriation bill which failed to become a law, but which will be put through in the special session, carried an appropriation of $250,000 for coast survey work in the Pacific Ocean. Of this amount about $100,000 will be spent in Alaska.

Two parties will do the wire drag work in Alaska this summer. In addition party No. 3 will continue the survey from Wrangell Island northward through Frederick Sound. Party No. 4 will be in the neighborhood of Juneau, and will survey the vicinity of Stephan Passage.

In the ordinary coast survey work the steamship Explorer will operate north of Forrester Island. This vessel was in the Dixon Entrance last year, and will proceed with the survey up to Chatham Strait. The Patterson will make the survey in Lizianski Inlet and Strait, in Cross Sound, and the inlets and harbors in the neighborhood of Cape Brigham, charting the waters out to the 1,000-fathom depth. In his testimony before the committee on Appropriations Dr. Jones told of the work the survey vessels had been doing in the past year.

"The Explorer and Patterson will spend all the season, eight months in Southeastern Alaska, doing hydrographic work, where wire drag work is not necessary," he said. "Two wire drag parties have been working in Southeastern Alaska, and they have covered a large section. We are not jumping from one point to another, but are following up the work from year to year, and completing it as we go along. In order to prove the value of the wire drag work I want to state that we found fifteen pinnacles last year, which were charted. They were on the regular route from Seattle to Juneau, and one of them reared from the ocean bed about 600 feet, but it did not show above the surface."

"Shipping has increased almost double in the last few years, and, necessarily, these menaces to navigation will be found more rapidly by a larger number of vessels. I am giving this data in order to show the importance of proceeding with the wire drag survey as rapidly as possible."

Andrew Stevenson, president of the Bank of Alaska, who has been in Wrangell the past three days, leaves for his home in Skagway today. Mr. Stevenson was in Juneau on business and found that he could return to Skagway via Wrangell, reaching home as soon as if he had waited at Juneau for the first boat north. Mr. Stevenson states that he is glad to avail himself of every opportunity to visit Wrangell.

ALASKA BANKERS MAY ORGANIZE AS ASSOCIATION

The banks along the Alaskan Coast have signified their desire to organize as Alaska Bankers' Association. If interior banks are agreeable, the association will be formed immediately.

Among banks that have manifested their willingness to join such an organization are: Bank of Alaska, Skagway, Wrangell and Anchorage; Miners & Merchants, Ketchikan; First National and B. M. Behrends, Juneau; First Territorial Douglas; First Bank of Cordova; First Bank of Valdez; Seward Bank and Harriman National, Seward; Bank of Anchorage.

Purpose of proposed organization is to secure uniformity of action among banks; to better personal acquaintances; promote discussion of subjects of importance to banking and commercial interests of the Territory; secure proper consideration of questions regarding financial and commercial usages, customs and laws which affect banking interests; and for protection against loss through crime.

Need of such organization has long been felt, Alaska bankers declare.—Business Chronicle.

B. A. Ross, who has been with the Bank of Alaska at Wrangell for the past four months, left with his family on the Humboldt for Skagway. Mr. Ross was with the Skagway bank before coming to Wrangell. It is reported that he is soon to be transferred to a branch of the Bank of Alaska to the Westward.

There was a lively time at the Arctic Brotherhood last evening. George Barnes and Elton Barnes were initiated into the order. Elton had a pretty rocky time of it on the trail, but he got along far better than his father. George Barnes says a municipal election is nothing compared with an A. B. initiation when it comes to strenuousness.

At the meeting of the Wrangell Fire Department Monday night it was decided to petition the town council to place several sections of hose in the north end of the town. The question of having the fire hydrant to the rear of the school house moved to the front of the building where it would be more accessible was also discussed, and the matter will be brought to the attention of the town council.

Rev. J. N. Coker returned on the Spokane yesterday from Haines where he attended the Presbytery. He will leave on the Uncle Dan for his home at Craig. When asked concerning the deliberations of the Presbytery Mr. Coker said: "We decided to suspend work at Craig for awhile. The percentage of population hardly justifies continuing our work there. We are not vacating, but merely suspending work there for the present. In about a month I shall leave for the states."

Borch-Swift

Charles H. Borch and Mrs. Belle Swift were quietly married last night at the home of the groom, Judge Wm. G. Thomas officiating. Those signing the marriage certificate as witnesses were George Storch, Mrs. L. C. Patenaude and Mrs. Mabel Zanner Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. Borch are both pioneers in Wrangell having lived here the greater part of the time for a quarter of a century. However, the bride has resided in Oakland, California, for the past several years, returning to Wrangell only recently.

Cupid does not always confine his work to young people. In this case the bride and groom both have grown children. The Sentinel extends heartiest congratulations, and hopes that from this union there will spring a young Joshua who will command the sun of their declining years to stand still.

Mining News.

CHITNA—Production at the Jumbo and Bonanza Mines of the Kennecott Corporation is between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 a month.

SKAGWAY—It is stated that it is the plan of the Harper syndicate, holding the Conrad properties in the Windy Arm district, to rehabilitate the mill at the Venus mine and equip it for active work by early spring. It is estimated that there are 30,000 tons of commercial ore in sight in the Venus and also a large tonnage in the Vault M. & M. properties and the Montana mine. Crude shipments will continue as heretofore, some 5,000 sacks being in readiness at the mines.

Arnold Jackson, who, prior to the outbreak of the present European War was engaged in mining at Juneau, Alaska, has been invested with the Military Cross by the King at Buckingham Palace, London, England. At the outbreak of hostilities, Mayor Jackson, for that is now his military rank, came south to Vancouver, B.C., and joined the 29th Battalion, known as Tobin's Tigers. He is about 22 years of age, and is a son of Alderman Thomas Jackson, of Chilliwack, Fraser Valley, B. C.—Alaska and Northwest Mining Journal.

Appropriation Bill Passes

Valentine Mayor of Juneau
JUNEAU, April 4.—The city election yesterday resulted as follows: mayor, Emery Valentine; councilmen, two years, Gunnar Blommeren, George Miller and Nels Sorby.

The question of the right of Alaska natives to vote is on which is bound to be the subject of much discussion in the immediate future. The following interesting comment is from the Unalakleet correspondent of the Nome Industrial Worker: "I see that much ado is made as to the native voting. What are they going to do about it?"

Simmie Fiendal, the veteran stage-driver on the Whitehorse-Dawson route, recently made the trip between those points during the coldest weather of the winter. One day he covered seventy miles while the thermometer was 70 to 75 degrees below zero, driving from 6 in the morning until 12 at night. His nose and chin were badly frost-bitten.

It is reported that the old cannery buildings at Pillar Bay, Southeastern Alaska, have been torn down and a new cannery building with a two line equipment will be built. It is expected that a pack of 70,000 cases will be put up there this year.

The Kennecott Mines company is now operating a moving picture theatre for the benefit of the miners and other residents of the town.
